

CLASSES & WORKSHOPS

LAVA classes serve youth and adults who seek the inspiration, transformation, and joy of physical accomplishment. Classes teach a basic yet rigorous movement vocabulary that uses acrobatics to improve strength, flexibility, and coordination; by learning group action and partnering techniques, students also gain communication and conflict-resolution skills that are invaluable in all walks of life.

Unlike traditional gymnastics or dance classes, the LAVA method focuses on connection with our physical, social, creative, and intellectual selves. Teachers have trained in Chinese acrobatics with Mr. Lu Yi and the San Francisco Circus Center, and classes incorporate instructors' experience in dance, improvisation, theater, capoeira, yoga, martial arts, and body awareness.

GENERAL INFORMATION

SCHEDULING: Classes are taught in 10-week sessions between September and June, with occasional workshops also available during the year and summer. Open rehearsals, Night of Renegades, and other community programs occur throughout the year. For exact dates and schedules, please visit www.lavalove.org.

PRICING: During the summer session, all classes are available for drop-ins at a rate of $25/class. Register for any three single classes or more, and each class is $20. (Due to extended length, there will be an additional fee of $5 for each Friday 4pm class.) We offer work-study for adults and scholarships and financial aid for kids, so no one will be turned away from classes for lack of funds. Community programs are free with suggested donation.

LOCATION AND DIRECTIONS: The LAVA Studio is located in Prospect Heights at 524 Bergen Street (between 6th Avenue and Carlton). Take the 2 or 3 to Bergen Street, the B or Q to 7th Ave, or any Atlantic Avenue subway.
